

Derivatives

Shin & Kim acts as local counsel for major market participants in over-the-counter and exchange-traded derivative transactions, providing systematic and in-depth legal advice on various types of derivatives transactions, securities lending, repurchase transactions and derivative-linked securities involving foreign and domestic corporate entities and financial institutions. Our services include conducting advance review of all relevant laws and regulations, advising on the structure, filing of reports with regulatory authorities, preparing and negotiating documentation and issuing legal opinions with the goal of ensuring that not only our clients' derivatives transactions (ranging from simple derivatives to structured products with complex embedded derivatives) are in full compliance with Korean laws and regulations, but also providing for measures that mitigate the risk of any dispute and regulatory issues which may arise in connection with specific transactions.

Key Services

Shin & Kim provides following services for derivatives transactions:

- Analyzing transactions for issues under all laws and regulations applicable to derivatives transactions including the Financial Investment Services and Capital Markets Act and the Foreign Exchange Transactions Act.
- Advising on and devising structures for derivative transactions
- Preparing and revising standard transaction agreements such schedules to be annexed to ISDA Master Agreements, GMSLA or GMRA based on negotiations with the counterparty such as the Schedule, Credit Support Annex and Confirmation for ISDA Master Agreements
